“We have been organizing textile trade shows since 2007 and our leading exhibition in London (The London Textile Fair - TLTF) counts around 500, predominantly European, exhibitors. TLTF is the biggest industry show within the UK and one of the leading European exhibitions for fashion fabrics, accessories, print studios and vintage garments,” said John Kelley, TEXTFUSION – New York organizer. “Our database of European manufacturers is complete and some of the most prestigious mills are exhibiting with us since the very beginning. We have a close relationship with our exhibitors and some of them asked us to organize a show in New York, as the US market is very important for them. From here the idea of Textfusion – New York, which will include, beside the European mills, also a small group of Far East high quality manufacturers. TLTF format is very successful in London and we are sure that will have the same reception in the US. We are very excited about this new project.”

TEXTFUSION – NEW YORK is a trade only show dedicated to the American fashion industry. Buyers will have the unique opportunity to source from the top international textile manufacturers. For buyers wanting to apply for a pass, please visit: <http://textfusion.co.uk/new-york>
